Scope and Content Note

The collection is divided into ten series: Activity Negatives, Photographs by Subject, Community Information Department, Audiovisual Services Slides, Susan J. Abernathy Scrapbooks, Southwest High School Library Transparencies, Library Services Scrapbook, School Partnership Program Photos/Slides, Samuel Shepard Photo Collection, Albums/Visual Material by Schools/Groups.

The Activity Negatives Series, c.1904-2005, consists primarily of original photographic negatives arranged chronologically and created by a series of unknown photographers. The materials document the schools, organizations, and educational and professional activities in the St. Louis Public Schools. 91 boxes - dating between 1904 to May 1952 - have been processed and are available for research; the remaining materials will become accessible as the series is further processed.

The Photographs by Subject series, c.1875-2003, comprises 40 boxes arranged alphabetically by subject. Schools comprise the majority of the subjects but they also include departments within the St. Louis Public Schools such as Special Education, Greenhouse, and the Educational Museum. There are also a large number of photos from KSLH, the district's radio station and a few photos for KSD-TV. For most schools in this series there are photos of the school buildings, many dating from circa 1900. Class photos are primarily graduating classes from middle schools, not high schools. There are also classroom photos, group photos or collage photos of students assigned to a classroom with a single teacher.

The Community Information Department series, c.1966-1999, comprises 11 boxes and contains primarily photos arranged alphabetically by subject. Interspersed among the photos are news releases and newsclippings relating to the events and people. There are also slide presentations: Magnet schools (with audiocassette), Dr. (Jerome) Jones' Accomplishments, and the SLPS 150th Anniversary. Of special note are the photos concerning the awards and special visitors (Pres. Clinton, Hillary Clinton, Sec. of Education, etc.) received by the Gateway School Complex.

The Audiovisual Services Slides series, 1950-1969, comprises one box containing slide presentations. The Susan J. Abernathy Scrapbooks series, 1966-1993, comprises three volumes (1 box) of candid and school photos of her students at three elementary schools: Shepard, Sigel, and Dewey. The Southwest High School Library Transparencies series is a set of ten sets of job seeking transparencies that were part of the school library collection. The Library Services Scrapbook series is a single volume titled "Corridor Libraries and the New Motivation in Reading," 1969.

The School Partnership Program series consists of photos, clippings, and some correspondence arranged in alphabetical order by name of the community partners participating in the program. The Samuel Shepard Photo Collection series, c.1946-1970 comprises one box. The Albums/Visual Materials series, c.1920-2003, is 16 boxes comprised of scrapbooks, photos albums, and lantern slides compiled by schools, school groups, individuals associated with a school, or SLPS departments.

Abernathy Scrapbooks, Southwest High School Library Transparencies, Library Services Scrapbook, School Partnership Program Photos/Slides, Samuel Shepard Photo Collection, Albums/Visual Material by Schools/Groups. Arranged alphabetically by subject and chronologically; arrangement varies by series.

Series Descriptions

St. Louis Public Schools Photograph Collection: Series 1 Activity Negatives, c. 1904-2005

Series 1, c.1904-2005, is a collection of original glass and film negatives documenting the daily activities and operations, students, staff, and buildings of the St. Louis Public Schools system. Most of the material consists of film-based negatives, but there are also a small number of photographic prints and related documents. Activities and institutions highlighted include: special schools for children with disabilities, open air schools, portable schools, vocational education schools, classroom and club activities, graduations, employee professional development activities, Educational Museum (later renamed the Division of Audio-Visual Education), the Greenhouse (opened in 1926), the St. Louis Public Schools Stadium (opened in 1928), and the FM radio station, KSLH, 91.5 FM, which started broadcasting in 1950.

Former St. Louis Public Schools Archivist, Sharon Dolan, arranged the photographic negatives chronologically and assigned them sequential numbers; this numbering system has been retained. Any photographic prints in this series are also arranged by their negative numbers. Dolan also created basic index records for the material including: School, subject, and date of creation. Individual students are not identified by name, but teachers and administrators occasionally are. Some records refer to single images while others refer to small sets of related images; these record groups have also been retained. A succession of unknown photographers have created these materials, but some creators have been identified including a Board of Education photographer known as Princell, the Director of Audiovisual Education Elizabeth Golterman, and the Assistant Director of Elementary Education Ruth Rowe.

91 boxes have been processed in the series as of July of 2017. Materials dating from 1904 to May 1952, the bulk of which dates between 1936 and 1950, are available for research and the records can be viewed online in the Missouri Historical Society's Cross Collection search. Materials dating from late May 1952 to 2005 are unprocessed; as work continues on the collection they will become available.

(See online at <http://collections.mohistory.org/resource/501591>.)

St. Louis Public Schools Photograph Collection: Series 2 Photographs by Subject, c.1875-2003

The series includes photographs arranged by subject, the dates spanning from approximately 1895 to 2003, with the majority dating between 1930 and 1970. There are oversize photographs arranged in two alphabetical sets, check the box labels carefully. An additional box added at the end of the collection contains photos of Central High School's 100th anniversary, Northwest High School, and Students in Industry (Box 74).

Schools comprise the majority of the subjects but they also include departments within the St. Louis Public Schools such as Special Education and the Greenhouse. There are also a large number of photos from KSLH, the district's radio station and a few photos for KSD-TV. For most schools in this series there are photos of the school buildings, many dating from circa 1900. Class photos are primarily graduating classes from middle schools, not high schools. There are also classroom photos, group photos or collage photos of students assigned to a classroom with a single teacher. Photos of classes and classrooms are either staged or impromptu, showing students during their daily activities.

It is likely that this series was created by the St. Louis Public Schools Archives as there are several prints with donor notations, proving that photos were added to the series over a number of years. Many photos have negative numbers on the back that correlate to the negatives that comprise series 1. These negative numbers, or a range of negative numbers, are noted in folder descriptions and were used to assist in dating the photographs. In addition, a stamp located on the verso of many photos states that the photo should be returned to the Audiovisual Department or Department of Audiovisual Education (DAVE). This department may have provided the primary photographic services for the St. Louis Public Schools. Other notes on the versos indicate that many photos appeared in School and Home, the district's publication for students, teachers, and parents (see MHS Library for issues). (See online <http://collections.mohistory.org/resource/511835>.)

St. Louis Public Schools Photograph Collection: Series 3 Community Information Department - Photos/Slides by Subject, c.1966-1999

This series is comprised primarily of photos arranged alphabetically by subject from the Community Information Department, c.1966-1999. Interspersed among the photos are news releases and news clippings relating to the events and people. There are also four slide presentations located at the end of the series: Magnet schools (with audiocassette), Dr. (Jerome) Jones' Accomplishments, and the SLPS 150th Anniversary.

There are several files relating to the remodeling of existing schools and the opening of new schools resulting from tax and bond issues. Of special note are the photos concerning the awards and special visitors (Pres. Clinton, Hillary Clinton, Sec. of Education, etc.) received by the Gateway School Complex. Programs for students highlighted in this series are "Be There," the district's attendance program cosponsored by Maritz, and "Do the Right Thing" in which students are recognized for acts benefiting others. Students receive awards from the St. Louis Police Department.

(See online <http://collections.mohistory.org/resource/511827>.)

St. Louis Public Schools Photograph Collection: Series 4 Audiovisual Services Slides, 1950-1969

The department was formerly the Department of Audiovisual Education (DAVE). It is likely that these slides were centrally located in this department and might have been made available for teachers to use in classrooms. The slide presentation topics include City Government, Veiled Prophet 1950, Michael School, Kindergarten Activities (slides 100-200), Union Station, Teachers First Day (teacher orientation), Christmas Pageant at Scullin School (no date). There are two slide presentations in the Architecture in St. Louis series created by the Women's Architectural League of AIA-St. Louis: Twelve Contemporary Buildings, 1969; and Twelve Historic Structures. Each architecture presentation is bound and includes the slides, a script, and a bibliography.

Susan Abernathy taught in the St. Louis Public School district. The scrapbooks contain candid and school photos of her students from 1966-1993, many of which are identified, at three elementary schools: Shepard, Sigel, and Dewey. There are three volumes in the series. (See online <http://collections.mohistory.org/resource/567935>.)

St. Louis Public Schools Photograph Collection: Series 6 Southwest High School Library Transparencies, 1970

(See online <http://collections.mohistory.org/resource/567933>.)

St. Louis Public Schools Photograph Collection: Series 7 Library Services Scrapbook, 1969

A scrapbook, Corridor Libraries and the New Motivation in Reading, presentation on a Project in Library Innovation undertaken by the district, financed under Title III, ESEA. There are photographs of corridor libraries and corridor displays using library materials set up at select school libraries. It was believed that bringing the materials into view of the students as they moved through their day would increase student interest in reading. The scrapbook was submitted by Helen Grauel, 26 May 1969.

(See online <http://collections.mohistory.org/resource/567937>.)

St. Louis Public Schools Photograph Collection: Series 8 School Partnership Program Photos/Slides, 1982-1991

The St. Louis Public Schools worked to create community relationships between the schools and businesses and individuals known as the School Partnership Program. This series is comprised of photos, clippings, correspondence, and other supporting documents arranged in alphabetical order by name of the community partners participating in the program. Only the second half of the alphabet is present, L-R.; there are no folders for the first half, A-K.

(See online <http://collections.mohistory.org/resource/567868>.)

St. Louis Public Schools Photograph Collection: Series 9 Samuel Shepard Photo Collection, c.1946-1970

Shepard worked with the St. Louis Public Schools from 1930 to 1970. He served as principal of Dumas, Penrose, Curtis, Jefferson, and Carr Lane schools. In 1948 he was appointed assistant director of elementary education (grades K-8) and director in 1952. In 1962 Shepard became assistant superintendent and worked with the Banneker District.

Shepard worked with teachers and parents to improve education in the inner city. One notable program was "Mr. Achiever," a radio program combined with community and school events and contests to engage students. There is one folder of photos relating to the program.

In the late 1960s, Banneker School participated in a program devised by Oberlin College to encourage middle school students to explore education after high school. Students spent time on the Oberlin campus during their summer breaks and the college and school district continued the comradery throughout the school year. There is one folder of Oberlin College Special Opportunity Program group and banquet photos.

Many of the remaining photos in this series are not identified, either by school or individuals, or dated. They have been divided into student, parent, and staff groups and activities. The few identified photos include: a music festival comprised of nine schools in the Vashon district, a Cultural Committee Assembly at the Carr Lane School with members of the St. Louis Cardinals football team, PTA Council meetings, "A Morning with Mrs. Koontz" at Jefferson School, Appreciation Dinner 1967, and Banneker District Teachers Chorus.

(See online <http://collections.mohistory.org/resource/568271>.)

St. Louis Public Schools Photograph Collection: Series 10 Albums/Visual Material by Schools/Groups, c.1920-2003

This series is comprised of scrapbooks (clippings and photos), photos albums, and lantern slides compiled by schools, school groups, individuals associated with a school, or SLPS departments. There are several anniversary scrapbooks and slides shows (Central and McKinley high schools).

Several of the scrapbooks and photo albums have been photocopied and/or disassembled for preservation. Original photographs have been retained.
