

YOU'RE INVITED!

WHAT: Missouri History Museum 2017 Homeschool Day Project Showcase

WHY: Are you proud of something you've made? Have you researched something really cool that you want to share? Come show it off at our first Homeschool Day Project Showcase!

This is an opportunity for students to educate other homeschool families about projects they have worked on related to science, history, or art! It is also an opportunity for students to practice presenting and explaining their work to small groups. It is not expected that students make something new for this fair, but rather showcase something they have already done. It will be set up like a science fair, so that families can walk around and interact with all of the presenters.

WHERE: AT&T Multipurpose Room at the Missouri History Museum

WHEN: From 1:00-2:00pm on Monday September 18th during our first Homeschool Day of the year: St. Louis Kids.

Below are some examples of the types of projects that would be great for the showcase.

Important Notes:

- Nothing can be bought or sold during this talent showcase.
- Students will get one table that measures approx. 6 feet by 2 feet.
- Students will have access to a power source if requested.
- Students will need to bring any laptops or tech equipment if needed.
- Multiple students from the same family can apply.
- Applications will be accepted on a rolling basis, but limited to 25 total participants.
